St. Patrick's Day will soon be upon us, so let's get ready to celebrate.

Why not start things off at the annual Cyril Byrne Lecture at St. Mary's University, held in memory of the man who established the Darcy McGee Chair of Irish Studies. This year's lecture, to be held on Friday, March 12th, at 7:00 pm at the University's Theatre Auditorium, will be delivered by the celebrated author Alistair MacLeod.

Then on Saturday, March 13th, starting at 11:30 am, everyone is invited to take part in the third annual St.

On the morning of the 17th itself, starting at 7:00 am, The Old Triangle will host its annual St. Patrick's Day Breakfast (held in part for the benefit of An Cumann).

That evening An Cumann invites everyone to come to its St. Patrick's Day Céilí for Irish stew, music, dancing and singing. This year's location is St. Thomas Aquinas Church Hall on Cornwall Street in Halifax (near Oxford and Jubilee). The price is $15 for adults and $5 for children.

Two other big events in Halifax that evening are the Charitable Irish Society's St. Patrick's Day Dinner (7:00 pm at the Marriott Harbourfront—$70) and a 25th anniversary concert by Evans and Doherty at Casino Nova Scotia (8:00 pm—$25).

The week's events will conclude on Friday evening, March 19th, at 7:30 pm, with a lecture at the SMU Art Gallery concerning the historians who first wrote about Ireland's "Wild Geese" in the French military.

Dinner With Irish Ambassador Declan Kelly, April 29th

Irish Ambassador Declan Kelly will be in Halifax on Thursday, April 29th, at 7:00 pm, for a dinner in aid of the Holy Cross Cemetery Trust.

The dinner will take place at the Atlantica Hotel (formerly the Holiday Inn) at the Willow Tree intersection.

There will also be a silent auction.

Tickets are $100. Purchasers will receive a tax receipt of $60 per ticket.

To order tickets call Lorraine at 454-2488 or Helen at 850-2468.

Come for a fine evening and support a great cause.

Cúntóra do Theagasc na Gaeilge / Irish Language Teaching Assistants

Thanks to the Irish government and the Ireland Canada University Foundation, there are Irish language teaching assistants at six Canadian universities this year, including both Saint Mary's and St. Francis Xavier in Nova Scotia.

Each of the teaching assistants has an Irish language degree, teacher training and teaching experience.

Neasa Ní Chuaig, the assistant at Saint Mary's, is a native Irish speaker from the Conamara Gaeltacht, west of Galway City. In addition to teaching the introductory Irish course at SMU this year, Neasa also meets each week with An Cumann's Irish language discussion group, led by Cork native Vera Dútin.

The assistantships last just one university year and are not renewable. Saint Mary's expects to have another assistant next year. Now that they've been spoiled by Neasa, An Cumann's Gaeilgeoirí will have high expectations of her successor.

Thall agus Abhus / Here and There

An Cumann has presented Brian Doherty with a framed certificate thanking him for his many contributions to the association over the years. Kevin Evans and Brian have been performing as Evans and Doherty for over 25 years and are still going strong, although Kevin commutes for gigs these days from Dungarvan, Co. Waterford.

An Cumann's new President, Troy Doyle, a management consultant, brings a wealth of business experience and creative ideas to the position. Troy, along with new board member Dave Moriarity, an account executive, is looking to bring new life to An Cumann's website. Dave has already brought An Cumann to Facebook.

Don Sullivan, a founding member and director of An Cumann, did not reoffer for the Board of Directors this year. It would be impossible measure how much Don has done for An Cumann in the last 20 years. What can be said with certainty is that we owe him a great debt of gratitude. We wish him well in his new role as President of the Brain Injury Association of Nova Scotia.

2010 Cyril Byrne Memorial Lecture at SMU

Alistair MacLeod, whose novel and short stories have portrayed Gaelic Cape Bretoners coming to grips with the non-Gaelic world around them, is a fitting person to deliver the annual lecture in honour of the late Cyril Byrne. In large measure, Cyril established the Chair of Irish Studies at SMU so as to help preserve the Gaelic language traditions of Ireland, Scotland and Cape Breton.

MacLeod, author of the critically acclaimed novel "No Great Mischief", will read in its entirety his short story "The Closing Down of Summer", long considered a masterpiece.

The event, described in Saint Mary's advertising poster as "One Night, One Story, Once in a Lifetime" will take place at the Theatre Auditorium in the Mc-Nally Building on Friday, March 12th, starting at 7:30 pm.

There is no admission charge, but demand for seating is likely to exceed supply. "An Evening with Alistair MacLeod" should be an evening to remember.

2010 Canadian Association of Irish Studies Conference at SMU

"Ireland and its Discontents: Success and Failure in Modern Ireland" is the theme of this conference, which runs May 19-22 at SMU. The conference could be described as an Irish cultural festival. It will feature not only lively academic debate on a variety of topics, but also literary and cultural events sure to interest a wide audience. A highlight will be a performance by the young and highly regarded traditional sean-nós singer, Lasairfhiona (pronounced Lah-sah-reena), from the Aran Islands.

The C.A.I.S. Conference comes to Halifax about once in a decade, so this is an opportunity not to be missed. The registration fee for members of An Cumann and C.I.S., as well as students, is $85.00, one half of the full fee to be paid by everyone else. The $85 fee covers the entire three days of the conference, except for the closing banquet for which there is a separate $50 charge.

For further information and a link to the registration form, go to <www.smu.ca/academic/arts/irish/>.
